Steve is one of two principals of Strategic Risk Solutions which was established in 2002. Since that time Steve and Strategic Risk Solutions have become established as a trusted advisor to companies providing consultancy services to a diverse range of organisations throughout Australia, New Zealand, the Pacific and Europe.

In addition to his work at Strategic Risk Solutions Steve has held various senior positions including as a Partner with Deloitte within Enterprise Risk Services for Central Europe focusing on fraud and forensic services across the entire Eastern European region. He was the Head of Risk Consulting (Pacific) for Marsh McLennan where he managed over 100 consultants in operational risk solutions covering areas of risk from engineering risk to occupational health and safety.

Steve was also General Manager, Group Security and Executive Manager Group Risk, Enterprise Risk Management for the Commonwealth Bank of Australia with responsibility for financial crime detection, fraud risk management, investigation and crisis management, security and on the ERM side business continuity and the framework for the Basel accord.

Steve's experience is considerable and varied including being the head of the NSW Police Negotiation Unit. He experience and skills across business continuity management and fraud risk are recognised globally and Steve has worked with and consulted too many companies a few of which are indicated here. His broader risk experience also encompasses training development and delivery, compliance and risk audits, OH&S and risk management framework development and implementation.

Steve has lectured and presented to government agencies, seminars, universities and companies on government, risk and compliance and continues to lecture at University regarding conflict and negotiation skills.

Industry experience includes banking, oil & gas, logistics, insurance, retail, manufacturing, infrastructure, law enforcement, government, telecommunications, security and health.

His extensive experience is strongly supported with under-graduate, graduate and post-graduate studies including Masters of Science (Risk). He is a Fellow of the Business Continuity Institute and other professional memberships include the Association of certified Fraud Examiners and the International Association of Financial Crimes Investigators. Steve possesses a number of industry licences and certifications and holds Top Secret security clearance with the Australian government.
